Traceability

Traceability is at the core of our commitment to transparency and quality. Through our advanced food tracking system, we provide consumers with the ability to trace the journey of their food, from the farms where it was grown to the table where it is enjoyed. This traceability ensures that our customers have complete visibility into the origin, handling, shipping and certification status of the products they purchase.

We offer non-GMO, chemical-free, and pesticide-free products, 100% Natural products providing consumers with a healthier and more environmentally friendly option.

OUR STORY

Our story starts with a group of local farmers who cultivate naturally and organically. These farmers faced a difficult challenge – how to get their products to consumers in a fair and sustainable way. We recognized their struggle and knew that we could make a difference.

We started by helping these farmers with fair prices and providing guidance, teaching them about the latest technology and methods to sell their products. This created a strong partnership between us and the farmers, allowing us to offer the highest quality, 100% natural products to our customers.

As a start-up in Canada, we faced our own challenges, including how to bring our natural products to a larger audience. We saw a need for a technological revolution in the natural food industry – one that would allow us to offer authentic, natural products on a global platform.

Through our commitment to sustainability and fair trade principles, we have established a farm-to-fork model that ensures our customers receive only the freshest, healthiest products. We take pride in knowing exactly where our products come from and how they are grown, ensuring transparency and traceability in our supply chain.

Our technological advancements in product traceability allow us to promote exposure in Canada and globe | rest of world We believe that by creating a connection between consumers and the farmers who grow their food, we can make a positive impact on the world around us.

At Earthen Connect, our story is one of passion, commitment, and sustainability. We are proud to offer 100% natural products that promote environmental stewardship and social responsibility while supporting local farmers and communities.

“We know that the future of our planet depends on sustainable living practices, and we’re committed to doing our part to make a difference. Lets promote natural living, support local farmers, and create a better world for all.”

TRACEABILITY

What is Traceability?

Traceability for natural products is the ability to track and trace the origin, movement, and handling of an natural product through the supply chain. It provides a comprehensive record of the product's journey, including information about its origin, handling, shipping and certification status.

Challenges in Traceability-

We observed some challenges in tracking and traceability of fair trade, pure natural Organic products such as complex supply chain, lack of standardization, inconsistent quality, certifications fraud, limited technological infrastructure. These challenges can make it difficult for consumers to trust that the natural products they purchase have been produced in an ethical and sustainable manner.

We concluded that implementing effective traceability systems can help to address these issues and promote transparency in the supply chain.
